

Breast Friends is an Atlanta-based breast cancer support network that provides individual emotional support, practical assistance, and information and resources for breast cancer patients, their families and friends. Our program is staffed by breast cancer survivors, private citizens, and professionals in the community who have a special interest in breast cancer.

Breast Friends provides services and support to breast cancer patients in the Metro-Atlanta area. We act as a national, and even international, resource for immediate support to women via our website, e-mail and primarily through our 24-hour toll-free hotline, in collaboration with Breast Cancer Network of Strength YourShoes™. We have no geographic, ethnic, cultural, economic or lifestyle boundaries. Whether it's emotional support on our hotline, transportation to treatment, or help for a loved one who is struggling, Breast Friends has a program that can help. We are committed to assisting anyone touched by breast cancer, no matter their circumstances. All of our services are free of charge.

We see the results of a positive attitude and a fighting spirit everyday. What better way is there to help a woman heal, than to provide her with every tool necessary to become a "willing and educated partner" in her own recovery?

No woman needs to be alone in her battle. Breast Friends can help.
