Why I walk:

As many of you know I have seen both sides of cancer.

Daddy was diagnosed with lung/liver cancer in 1999. He bravely fought this terrible disease. He went through chemo & radiation treatments, but a cure was not to be. Daddy passed away February 15, 2000.

Moma was diagnosed in 2001 with breast cancer. She also went through a lumpectomy, chemo & radiation treatments. I am proud to say that Moma is a survivor.

There are MANY of my family and friends who have gone through various types of cancers previously or are battling the disease right now. I am walking for them and all of those I don't know.

I don't have cancer. What I do have is a body that can walk, and friends and family who I hope will support me in the life-changing experience. I along with many others are dedicated to one cause: finding a cure for cancer.
